Do You Know the Difference Between Your Credit Union and Banks?

In a MSN Money article, noted financial columnist Liz Pulliam Weston recommends consumers who are unhappy with rising bank fees and restrictive lending practices to "Ditch your bank for a credit union". Good advice! Here are some of the differences between credit unions and banks:

- Credit Unions are member owned. Yes, you have an account at United Credit Union and that means you are an owner. Since cooperatives like the credit union are member owned, there are no outside stockholders demanding high profit levels.
- Credit Unions are not for profit. This means lower rates on loans, fewer fees and better interest rates on savings.
- Our volunteer Board of Directors serves without pay and are elected at the annual meeting by our members.

Anyone who works or lives in Kosciusko County may join United Credit Union and enjoy our great services. If you have co-workers and friends who have not yet joined United Credit Union, please recommend us!

Have you recently received notices of interest rate increases on your credit card balances? Why not make the change to a United Credit Union Credit Card? With interest rates as low as 9.9% APR*, you may see a significant savings in your finance charges and even pay-off your balance sooner.
